

CITY MATTERS.

The candidate smiles and sniffs and it is a "willie".

A little son of a Mr. Miller, of North Plum street, died yesterday of scarlet fever.

Good delegates will make a good convention, and a good convention will make good nominations.

The average citizen should not allow himself to be deceived by smooth talk, tied off from an oil tongue.

Mrs. C. M. Lukens, formerly Miss Florence Chidester, of Syracuse, N. Y., is without a rival in serio-comic and pathetic elocution.

Officer Wilson singed his fine scalpin' cap while on duty at the fire in the First ward, Sunday morning, until it looks like a small stubble field.

Attention should be given to the selection of Township Trustees and Constables. We should secure the best qualified men for each position to be filled.

The best citizens should be chosen as delegates to Wednesday evening's convention at Black's Opera House, without reference to their preferences as to candidates.

Mrs. Lukens and Miss Chidester, of Syracuse, in comic and pathetic elocution at St. Paul M. E. church Thursday night, February 26.

George Alt shows a Republican ballot used at the Borough election in 1863. It is printed in colors to prevent counterfeiting. On the county ticket are such well-known names as Abraham Mattox, for county clerk; J. P. Litter, probate judge; John C. Miller, prosecuting attorney; Alex. Ramsey, common pleader; Cyrus Allen, coroner.

A delightful entertainment is furnished at St. Paul M. E. church Thursday night of this week. The Chidesters in elocution are renowned the whole country over. Admission 10 and 20 cents.

The annual meeting of the National Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents will be held in New Orleans Tuesday, March 17. A. J. Smith, G. P. A. of the C. & C. & I. lines, is Secretary of the Association, and W. H. Wright, son of E. P. Wright, of this city, stenographer. The latter will accompany Secretary Smith to the New Orleans meeting.

In the haste of preparing Saturday's account of the attempted suicide on Main street, it was stated inadvertently that it was Thomas Pagett who, in a fit of insanity, shot and wounded a companion. It should have read Samuel, instead of Thomas, that being the brother now in the asylum at Dayton. Thomas M. Pagett resides in this city and is a wood worker at Diehl & Geiger's engine works, and is a married man.

In connection with the Chidesters, some choice duets, quartettes and solos will be rendered at St. Paul M. E. church Thursday night, February 26.

Pomroy Mitchell, of New Carlisle, left Saturday evening, on the L. & W. railroad, for Topeka, Kansas, in the interest of George M. Leffell, with ten traveling salesmen—Geo. Pringle, A. L. Reed, J. C. Welch, Geo. H. Allen, Tom Boda, and A. Harrison, Versailles, Ohio; Albert Trout, Medway; E. G. Reed, Bellefontaine; Charles L. Nichols and Amos Mumma, Springfield. Mr. Leffell will make Topeka his future place of business, and leaves for that point in about two weeks.

Charles H. Berry Acquitted. For several days past the case of Charles H. Berry, the pension agent, who was arrested and indicted for obtaining illegal pension fees, has been in progress in the United States Court at Cincinnati. Of the eighteen counts against him all but three were rejected at the beginning of the trial. E. S. Wallace, Esq., of this city, appeared as counsel for Mr. Berry, and the result is quite a "feather in his cap." The taking of testimony concluded about three o'clock yesterday afternoon and a half hour was allowed each side for argument. At the end of this time the case was given to the jury, and after deliberating for about a half hour, a verdict of acquittal was rendered. Mr. Berry received the congratulations of his friends present, and returned to this city at midnight.

A select and large audience greeted Mrs. Florence C. Lukens on her first appearance in this city. Her reading showed thorough cultivation. Her voice is clear and forcible, and in person she is attractive. Cincinnati Commercial.

Going to Get His Man. Mr. John T. Norris has now in his possession the necessary papers by which a requisition will be made on the governor of Kentucky for the delivery of one of its citizens to answer to the State of Ohio for the murder of one of her citizens. Some six years ago this wanted gentleman from the blue grass regions committed a horrible murder in one of the Northwest counties of Ohio, but escaped as the time, going into Texas and New Mexico. The deed was done to wreak vengeance on the murdered man for betraying several of the well-known Underwood gang of Kentucky outlaws, in which two of the notorious gang were killed and others captured. The murderer swore vengeance, and executed it by seeking out his victim, going to his door and deliberately fired both barrels of a heavily loaded shotgun into the man's head, literally tearing it to pieces.

Years have passed away, and the murderer has returned to "bloody Brethitt" in Kentucky, and while several attempts have been made to arrest him, he has defied the officials, and often, with the cold argument of his pistol, dared them to take him. He is now skulking among the hills in one of the back counties of Kentucky, and John T. Norris will start tomorrow morning to bring him in. He has a special contract with the commissioners of the county in which the murder was committed, and is to receive $1,000 if he gets him, or, in case of failure, expenses are to be paid for thirty days.

Injunction Case. In Common Pleas court Saturday Pringle & Johnson filed petition for an injunction against David J. Nysewander, as president of the Superior Manufacturing Company of New Carlisle, plaintiff being Thos. J. Pringle, as assignee of John F. Barclay. The petition sets forth that said Barclay executed certain legal papers transferring to defendant title to property on Mount street, worth $2,500, receiving 45 shares of stock in the Superior Company. It is alleged that false representations were made to Barclay as to the value of this stock and profits of the business. Defendant, it is alleged, now proposes and threatens to sell the real estate, note and mortgage given by Barclay, which the plaintiffs ask shall be held for naught. An injunction is granted, as prayed for until further order of Court.

Samuel Altshuler, Edward J. Lockwood and Nihart & Swanger, liquor dealers and saloonists, have brought suits to recover money paid into the county treasury under the Scott law.

WE DO AND WE DON'T.

The plain facts are what interest the public. Untruthful representations as to quality of goods is commercial suicide. Our ever-increasing patronage is due in an equal degree to what we do and what we don't do. For example: We DO sell the very best shoes for the money in all grades that can be produced by the leading manufacturers. We DO NOT handle snide auction goods, made by shoddy manufacturers to deceive the "cheap" trade. We DO sell at lower prices, quality considered, than any other establishment in the city. We DO NOT attempt to palm off upon the unsuspecting customer a worthless shoe made of rejected split leather with paper soles and bogus counters, designed to imitate legitimate goods. We DO sell the first quality of rubbers and overshoes, and the first quality only. We DO NOT buy or sell either second or third quality of rubbers and overshoes, these two grades being burnt and damaged in manufacture, and therefore of little or no use for service. We DO guarantee every statement made to a customer concerning quality, style and price of goods. We DO NOT misrepresent goods, nor attempt to deceive and defraud purchasers. In short, we do a strictly honest business in honest goods, and do not seek to gull such dupes as can neither detect nor appreciate the difference between shoddy and legitimate dealers.

Notice of Sunday Services.

Unusually large congregations assembled at Christ church, Episcopal, yesterday morning and evening, on the occasion of the visitation by Bishop Jaggar, diocese of Southern Ohio. The floral decorations were very simple, consisting only of a large cross above the communion table and tastefully arranged cut flowers, etc., upon the font. A class of fourteen, ten ladies and four gentlemen, received the rite of confirmation and the congregation listened to a short discourse by the bishop, who also delivered a sermon in the evening on the words, "My Lord and my God," being a presentation of Christ and Him crucified, in the character of Savior of the world. The holy communion was received by those entitled at the morning service.

In place of the regular service at Central M. E. church, there was communion and reception of converts into full membership, in the morning, after which a large number, over fifty, probationers were called to the altar, where they were addressed by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Leonard, explanatory of their relation to the church and the difference, which is not great, between their position and that of those in "full membership," as it is termed. In the evening there was a sermon by Presiding Elder Spahr, followed by conference meeting, when there were fifteen at the altar and one conversion.

There was the usual crowded audience at the First Lutheran church last evening for the concert by the large and flourishing Sunday school. The reports show the school in as good condition as it was last year. About a dozen members of Mt. Pleasant No. 45, G. A. R., and some others, attended the service Sunday morning at the University, where the church in honor of Washington's birthday. Rev. Mr. Smith's discourse took the direction that the sword has played an important part in all ages and must be wielded at times, and made the point that only freemen, throughout all ages, had been worthy to bear arms. The music was appropriate to the patriotic spirit of the service.

Fitting reference was made to the anniversary at the session, in the morning, of the Congressional Sabbath school, a fine engraving of Washington at Valley Forge being suspended above the platform. There will be preaching this evening at the Christian Church, on West High street, by Elder James Maple, formerly of Franklin, Ohio, but now of Marion, Ia. Mr. Maple will preach each evening of this week, except Saturday, and all are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Florence Chidester-Lukens is an accomplished scholar. Her reputation as an elocutionist was particularly fine in the university. She will achieve great success as a teacher of elocution.—Bishop K. O. Haven, D. D., L. L. D.

The factory in which the fire occurred this forenoon is within a stone's throw of the Western engine house, but the men there were sent on a wild-goose chase by misunderstanding of directions at the telephone exchange. The operator there gave the word that the fire was in the "Standard Manufacturing Company" shop on West Columbia street. (It is on Center between Columbia and North streets.) That was a new one to the boys, who didn't know it by that name, and asked for more definite directions; if the conflagration premises were west of Factory street. The reply was, "Yes! yes! yes!" and westward they went, right away from the fire, and might have been running yet but for a well-informed postal-carrier. Women are precious at such times and often decide the fate of valuable premises. Therefore people giving directions in such cases should keep cool and be sure they are right.

A Card.

To the Editor of the Globe-Republic: Sir:—In answer to the report published in a local paper respecting a quarrel which took place between Mr. Grove and myself in a saloon in this city, let me say that as I am not in the habit of frequenting saloons and free lunch rooms, I consider the publication an insult and a dastardly outrage to my character, and whoever acquainted the paper with the facts of the case knew it to be a deliberate falsehood, without a particle of truth in it. Respectfully yours,

THOS. E. RUSSELL,
St. James Hotel.

These two popular comedians will appear at the Grand tomorrow evening in their new comedy-drama, "The Emigrants," a four-act sketch, in which there is a world of fun and some excellent acting and singing. Salaries in Different Countries.

In Hungary each member of the imperial legislative body receives for every day of the session about $2.40, besides $100 annually for lodgings; in Austria about $5 a day during the session. France pays her Senators and Deputies about $2,250 per annum; Holland, about $850 per annum and traveling expenses; Portugal, $2.25 per diem. Members of the Canadian Parliament receive for every session, lasting over a month $1,000 and ten cents mileage. Brazil gives to her Senators $1,800 for the session, and to the Representatives $1,200 and traveling expenses; Mexico allows the members of both Houses $2,000 per annum; the Argentine Republic even goes as high as $5,500; and in the United States, both Senators and members of the House of Representatives receive $5,000 annually, with mileage at 20 cents per mile.—Philadelphia Press.

Drink in the Time of the Crusades.

The Crusaders were great toppers, and to them is due the bringing of spirits. The Arabs had reinvented distilling, but the process is described by Galen and Zosimus, writing in the second and fifth centuries, respectively. It is thought to have been known to the old Chaldees, and from them transmitted to the Scythians—Tartars, who, like the Kurds nowadays, were always making inroad toward the Mediterranean. Alcoholic liquors, of course, an Arabian word, probably the same as the Hebrew "khal" Chaldeo "khal," meaning anything highly subtilized, whether in powder or spirit. In the former shape it is applied to the finely powdered antimony, the "khal" with which Eastern women paint their eyelashes. With the latter, "al," it is the spirit, or, as Lucifer, in Longfellow's "Golden Legend," says:

"The elixir of perpetual youth,
Called a colic in the Arab speech."

This, by and by, became a formidable rival to the older liquors, of which Girardin Cambrensis writes: "Their constant habit of drinking has made the English famous among all nations. Both nature and custom make them drunkards. It is a strife between Ceres and Bacchus; but in the beer which conifers and dominions over which they prevail, the spirits, however, were not made or much drank in England till the sixteenth century. Even abroad for a long time brandy was only used as a medicine, the efforts of chemists like Raymond Lully being devoted to rectifying what the Arabian Albucares had taught them how to produce in a hydrated form. How is it that whiskey (uisgebeath—water of life) got into use so much sooner in Scotland and Ireland? It cannot be because mountains are unsuited to malting, for much of Ireland is plain, and the Welsh have never changed their cereal cultivation, (beer), so that it is, for spirits. Moreover, good ales are still brewed in Scotland and Ireland, notably at Drogheda, and the old song about King Arthur's Court testifies that in early times gaid Daigetty class brought over that and other bad customs, and they were a numerous class, and from them the Colonists to Ulster were largely recruited. Scotch ale (Low Latin, Scot-aleum) had, by the way, in old records, a far different meaning; it is, properly, a gathering where each paid his share, and thence comes to mean a public house. In King John's reign the Council of St. Alban's forbids "Viscounts, foresters, and others to hold Scot-ales where they pleased." A King's officer would hold a Scot-ale within one of the royal forests, out of the range, i. e., of the common law, and thither he would compel men to repair, just as a publican nowadays is sometimes able to prevent a man from getting work unless he deals with the "house of call," where workmen assemble and wages are paid.—All the Year Round.

The Maria Theresa dollar is the only coin known in Abyssinia. Cloth and bars of rock salt, ten inches long by two inches wide and deep, bound with a reed, serve as their ordinary means of barter. A recent traveller says he made a lasting friendship with a village chief by making him a present of an empty Worcester sauce bottle, the glass stopper appearing to be a source of delight and comfort to him.

An Easton tobaccoist recently received 3,000 pennies in payment of a debt.
